

Christopher Day Of Navidar Group Joins TechPoint’s CEO Roundtable Discussion On Lessons Learned from Startup to IPO

INDIANAPOLIS, IN (March 5, 2013) -- Navidar Group, a leading investment banking firm, announced today participation in the following upcoming event.

- Event: CEO Roundtable, Valuation & Equity Events: Lessons Learned from Startup to IPO
- Location: Katz, Sapper & Miller Offices located on 800 East 96th Street, Suite 400, Indianapolis, IN
- Time and Date: March 13, 2013 at 7:30am
- Presenters: Christopher Day, Managing Principal of Navidar; Dave Becker, Chairman & CEO of First Internet Bank; and Tim Duvall, CPA, Partner at Katz, Sapper & Miller (Moderator)

The event provides an opportunity for technology executives to gather in a small group and hear about lessons learned from industry veterans who have experienced the M&A exit process and have successfully monetized their businesses.

“Looking beyond a strong business plan, investors, and a hard working team; the network within a startup’s community plays an intricate and overlooked role in bringing a company from startup to IPO. The IPO or M&A exits for founders and investors are significant liquidity events. Navidar has helped hundreds of companies to maximize that outcome and has learned how best to manage that process,” Christopher Day, Managing Principal of Navidar Group.

About CEO Roundtable

This invitation-only quarterly series focuses on major issues that high-tech CEOs are facing and offers information that cannot be easily found elsewhere. The free exchange format with other qualified technology CEOs makes this event as valuable as it is unique. The roundtable is limited to a small, manageable group size, and only CEOs or executive managers from technology- or knowledge-based firms are invited to attend. This ensures that discussions are narrowly focused to provide optimal value for our invited guests.
